

Owned heifers:

Chan Phillips, Maysville, Ky.

Chan Phillips is co-owner of Rocking P Livestock. He and his brother, Keith, run a Simmental and SimAngus cow herd, where they extensively utilize artificial insemination and embryo transfer.

Chan started in the Simmental business at age 6 when he purchased his first heifer. He also exhibited a Simmental steer at the first North American International Livestock Exposition in 1974 and has been in attendance every year since.

Chan owned and operated Phillips Cattle Company, a custom fitting service, for 16 years. The Phillips Cattle Company crew has exhibited multiple national champions at all major expositions. Chan has judged numerous national breed shows across the U.S. and Canada. He also judged the bred-and-owned show at the JNHE in Sioux Falls, S.D. He and his wife, Toya, have two children, Morgan and A.K.

Chan Phillips

Bulls and steers

Cody Sankey of Economy, Ind.

Cody Sankey is a fifth-generation cattleman. He grew up involved in his family's operation, Sankey's 6N Ranch, in Council Grove, Kan., which is the second longest running registered Angus herd in the U.S.

Cody is a graduate of Oklahoma State University, where he earned a bachelor's degree in animal science and a master's in ruminant nutrition. During his time at Oklahoma State, he also competed on a national champion livestock judging team.

After college, Cody managed the Michigan State University Beef Cattle Center for eight years and coached the university's livestock judging team. Most recently, he worked for a livestock nutrition and animal microbiology company based in Indiana. Today, Cody is the beef sire procurement manager for Genex Cooperative Inc.

Cody and his wife, Lindsay, raise Angus and Hereford cattle and remain active in both of their families' cattle operations.

Cody Sankey

Owned heifers associate:

Ernie Wallace, Scotts City, Mo.

Ernie Wallace is the owner of Wallace Cattle Co. Ernie and his wife, Tammy, started their operation in 1984 and, today, run a herd of more than 150 registered Angus and Simmental cattle. They have two children, Paige and Sam, who were both involved in the Angus and Simmental junior breed associations.

Ernie has judged cattle at numerous shows including the National Western Stock Show, the North American International Livestock Exposition, the American Royal, the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair in Canada, eight national junior shows and various state and regional shows.

Wallace Cattle Co. has raised and shown Angus and Simmental females which were selected champion at numerous national shows.

Ernie Wallace

Peewee and junior showmanship

Marcus Arnold, El Dorado, Kan.

Marcus Arnold grew up on a small, family owned cattle and show pig operation located in Panhandle, Texas. He attended Clarendon College, where he was a member of the its nationally recognized livestock judging team. As a Junior College All-American, he attended Texas Tech University, where he received his bachelor's degree in animal science and was on the record-setting national champion livestock judging team in 2008. He was also a member of the 2008 National Champion Meat-Animal Evaluation Team.

Upon graduation from Texas Tech, he attended Colorado State University and earned a master's degree in animal nutrition while assisting in coaching the livestock judging team. After the completion of his master's degree, Marcus served as the livestock judging coach at West Texas A&M University. He is currently working on finishing his doctorate in the field of animal sciences with a focus on ruminant nutrition and reproduction.

Marcus has been a Butler Community College department head, assistant professor and livestock judging coach since 2013. He has coached 12 All-American students and nine champion and reserve champion teams at national contests and was recently named the 2016-17 Junior College Coach of the Year.

Marcus Arnold

Bred-and-owned heifers and cow-calf pairs:

Mark McClintock, San Angelo, Texas.

Mark McClintock has had the honor to judge most major shows in the U.S. as well as shows in Canada, Ecuador, Paraguay and Thailand.

He was raised on a horse ranch in southern California and grew up showing cattle in 4-H. He attended Cal Poly State University, where he was a member of the livestock judging team.

After graduating with a bachelor's degree in animal science, he became herdsman for Bright Bros. Herefords in LeGrand, Calif., and moved on to herdsman at Lone Star Herefords in Henrietta, Texas.

Mark was awarded Herdsman of the Year in 1981 and in 1982 began managing Rocking Chari Ranch until 2009. After his tenure with Rocking Chair Ranch, mark started a consulting and sales business.

He and his wife, Teresa, have two sons, Ryan and Mason, who showed Herefords and are still involved with the family cattle. Ryan and his wife, Tiffany, have a daughter, Brynly, and a son, Briley. Mason and his fiancé, Ashley, will be married this summer.

Mark McClintock

Senior and intermediate showmanship

Andrew and Emilee Foster, Niles, Mich.

Andrew and Emilee Foster along with their daughter, Everly, own and operate Seldom Rest Farms where they raise registered Angus cattle. Their operation is based on junior show heifer projects. Andrew and Emilee both grew up showing cattle and were extensively involved in the National Junior Hereford Association and National Junior Angus Association.

Andrew and Emilee both have had the privilege of competing in the national showmanship contest finals within their respected breeds.

Andrew and Emilee Foster