

promotion plan for the next year. Participants then had a chance to ask AHA Board members and staff questions about current programs and issues.

The meeting ended with election of officers. Moon was elected to serve as the 2008 chairman and Leslie Bennett, Cornell, Wash., was elected vice chairman.

Other Saturday activities

Following the state presidents' meeting was the delegate orientation, which included presentations from the six Board candidates.

Hereford breeders then made their way to the American Royal complex for the Ladies of the Royal sale. See Page 37 for results.

Saturday evening Hereford breeders had a chance to visit the AHA headquarters and enjoy an evening of Hereford fellowship.

Herefords in the ring

Sunday morning junior Hereford exhibitors paraded 59 females before judge Bill Conley. The national Hereford show followed the junior show. Judge Hampton Cornelius evaluated the 183 bulls and females. See Page 38 for highlights of the show. For complete placings of both shows, go online to Hereford.org under the "Shows" tab.

Sunday evening Hereford enthusiasts put on their best for the fifth annual "Harvest Gala." The evening included the presentation of scholarships totaling $37,000 to 14 National Junior Hereford Association (NJHA) members (see Page 34). Other highlights were live and silent auctions that raised more than $70,000 for the foundation. See Page 32 for more gala highlights.

Hereford breeders honored

Monday was the Annual Membership Meeting at the Hilton President Kansas City. The meeting included the election of three new directors, announcement of new officers and recognition of Century and Golden Hereford Breeders and Hall of Fame and Hall of Merit recipients.
