AHA election process

Each year three American Hereford Association (AHA) Directors retire from the Board and three new Directors are elected to succeed them.

The election procedure is a multi-step process.

1) Nomination of board candidates – The AHA Board of Directors executive committee selects a five-member nominating committee at-large. According to Section 3(a) of Article VI of the AHA Bylaws that were amended Oct. 29, 2015, the nominating committee shall nominate no less than three nor more than six candidates for election as Directors of the Association, each of whom shall be an active member or a representative of an active member at the time of nomination, and shall submit the names of those candidates to delegates at the meeting of delegates. In addition, any delegate present in person may nominate any active member (including himself or herself) or any representative of an active member as a candidate for Director at the meeting of delegates.

2) Election of voting delegates – Each state elects voting delegates to attend the AHA Annual Meeting in Kansas City, Mo., to vote on the slate of nominees.

Each state is entitled to one delegate for every 750 Hereford registrations recorded from Jan. 1-Dec. 31, 2018. A state must have a minimum of 375 registrations to be entitled to one delegate. If the number of registrations exceeds 750 or any multiple thereof by 375 or more, the state will be entitled to an additional delegate or delegates.

3) State election of voting delegates – In late April, delegate nomination postcards are mailed to all AHA members. Replies must be postmarked by June 1.

Each active member is asked to nominate one state candidate to be elected to serve as a delegate to the AHA Annual Meeting. An active member is defined as a member that registered at least one animal in the calendar year preceding the year of the election.

A state delegate ballot will be sent to each active member to vote from a list of state nominees. Each active member will vote for the entitled number of state delegates. Each state is entitled to a number of delegates based on registration count and membership count in the previous year's registration period. A minimum of 375 registrations is required for the first delegate, and then for every 750 registrations thereafter an additional delegate is added. In addition, each state is allocated a delegate for the first 25 members and an additional delegate for every 100 members thereafter.

Weighted votes

Each member delegate vote will be weighted based on the individual's registrations as follows:

Number of registrations	Weighted votes
1-20	1
21-50	6
51-100	15
101-200	30
More than 200	60

Voting quadrants for AHA Board of Directors

The U.S. is divided into four regions of representation, and each region will have at least one director.

Principle place of doing business

Each active member must vote in the state that is his or her principle place of doing Hereford business, i.e. ranch or farm address must be in the same state in which he or she is voting.

Election schedule

- April AHA mails delegate nomination postcards
- June 1 Deadline for nominating delegates
- June Delegate ballot will be sent out to each active member. Each active member will be asked to vote for the corresponding number of delegate candidates allocated to each state.
- Aug. 1 Deadline for returning ballots
- Oct. 1 Announcement of elected state delegates.
- Oct. 27 Election of Directors by the delegates will take place at the assembly of state delegates during the AHA Annual Meeting in Kansas City, Mo. HW

Austin selected as HPI intern

Adrian Austin will serve as the Hereford Publication Inc. (HPI) intern. The Illinois native and National Junior Swine Association junior board secretary is majoring in agricultural communications at Kansas State University (K-State) with a minor in animal science. At K-State Austin is a member of the livestock judging team and was high individual in the 2019 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo livestock judging contest.

Adrian Austin

Prior to attending K-State, Austin received an Associate of Science degree in agriculture at Lincoln Land Community College in Springfield, Ill., where she also competed on the livestock judging team. She was named a 2017-18 All American Junior Collegiate Livestock Judge and was the high individual in the 2018 National Western Stock Show livestock judging contest.

As the HPI intern, Austin will assist the Hereford World editorial team and Creative Services with production projects, including feature stories, ads and sale catalogs. In addition, she will attend the Junior National Hereford Expo to assist with event coverage.

“We are very excited to welcome Adrian to our HPI team this summer,” says Samantha Albers, HPI Creative Services coordinator. “Her energy and enthusiasm for the livestock industry, along with her experience and knowledge of marketing and communications, make her a great addition to our staff.”

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln (UNL) junior is pursuing a bachelor’s degree in animal science with a Nebraska Beef Industry Scholars minor and an agricultural economics minor.
