The Dogwood Difference?

For over 50 years,
DWF seedstock cattle have been . . .

Designed With Forage!

Grass-developed bulls go straight to work in the pasture, with no down-time. Never over-fattened, forage-oriented bulls like R4 and C4 stay sound to breed for many years.

Documented real-world stayability:
Natural son of a 14 yr. old cow, sired

Children: Quinton Dulworth and Rachel Dulworth Balluff

Farm location: From interstate I-24 in Paducah, exit 4, follow U.S. Hwy 60 west to LaCenter, about 17 miles. Turn right on KY Hwy 358 (Broadway in LaCenter). Travel north to the second crossroad, Kirkman/Mt. Pleasant Rd. Turn left onto S. Kirkman road and travel another 2.5 miles (Note: If your GPS stops you at the junction with Berry Rd., keep driving about one more mile on S. Kirkman). Watch for the Dogwood Farm sign and logo on the right at the service drive.

Cow herd: We usually have about 100 cows in the herd, more or less.

Bloodlines: All are DWF Victor Domino ancestry, descended from southern-adapted RWJ Victor Domino's, with some AI influence from five of the original APHA Sires of Distinction.

Management: Every female born here at Dogwood since 1964 has been entirely forage-fed. All have been selected for ability to thrive on forages here, and none have received any grain (with the exception of a few cows and heifers sold in a Dec. 2002 production sale).

Health: The cow herd has been certified and accredited in the past. To maintain forage-oriented traits and adaptation, it has been closed since a purchase in 2006.

Herd sires: Current senior herd sires in use along with their sons, include: DWF 18L Time Prize R4 C4 (P43660181) and DWF X3 Vic Centrix 1002 C88 (P43665416) homozygous polled. Occasionally, we use a few carefully selected sires from outside the herd, either by AI or by arrangement with Norman Davis of Highridge Farm in Tennessee.

Sales: Breeding stock is offered for sale by private treaty, first come, first serve.

Females: Usually sell in small groups or occasionally by the trailer load, as demand, weather and pasture space dictate, every three to five years. Over the past thirty years, Dogwood Farm females have sold into dozens of herds from Pennsylvania to Kansas, to Montana and Idaho and from Mississippi to northern Ohio. Most sell in small groups locally to commercial herds.

Bulls: Sell annually, on demand. Each year the top quarter to third of yearling bulls are selected for development as breeding bulls for sale or use in our own herd.

Since 2003, when we began our direct-marketed beef business, the remaining males have become 100% forage-fed Hereford steers, moved daily to high-quality fresh pasture until finished. Steers sell either on the hoof as custom beef, direct-marketed at a reasonable profit to grateful health-conscious local consumers, our friends, neighbors and family or as USDA inspected cuts at the Paducah Farmer's Market and direct from the farm.
